

TOWARDS AN ANTI-RACIST CURRICULUM 2223 NEW SCHOOLS

Delivery Timeline: Autumn Term 2022 to Summer Term 2023

Our support package for new schools consists of:

- Three training sessions (1 x 1.5 hrs. session per term, 2 ONLINE, 1F2F) bringing Lead Teachers from schools together to lay the groundwork, track progress and provide peer support in a dialogic space.
- Philosophy for Children (Level 1) accreditation for a lead member of staff from each school.
- One online half-day training support per school delivered to all staff (not mandatory) sharing tried and tested global learning methodologies in anti-racist education and pupil voice. The session will consist of:
 - Considering what we mean when we call for the decolonising of curriculums, developing racial literacy,
 - Establishing the difference between non-racism and anti-racism, and how that translates in a school setting
 - Recognising Britain's colonial history as a single story that has drowned out other perspectives, how that single story permeates the texts we use in schools and the impact our unconscious biases can have on children's life opportunities and outcomes
 - Exploring pupil voice and how schools can use the lived experience of children and young people to create representative school cultures reflective of their communities
 - Developing awareness and skills through a range of resources, links, videos, and stimuli which are freely available online
- One surgery with the Senior Leadership Team and Project Leads of each school. This will:
 - Explore how the curriculum is being delivered and co-building a road map with insight and advice from our team, around changes and reforms to embed broader perspectives.
 - Planning a participatory anti-racist strategy that includes and raises pupil voice.
- Two sessions creating an online safe space for the emotional well-being and healing of BAME school staff members and TARC trainers. As well as signposting of brave and safe spaces.
